BLACKLEG IN CATTLE

Is prevented by vaccination before the germ of the disease has entered the system. The success of vaccination depends upon proper dosage. Too large a dose will produce the disease while too small a dose will not render the animal immune. This problem is solved by Parke, Davis & Co. in their new vaccine in pill form which is injected through the skin. No mixing, filtering or time wasted and you don't have to spend a fortune to vaccinate your cattle. P. D. Co. book, "Blackleg and its Treatment," free.

Choral Class Concert.

The attendance at the choral class concert Friday evening was light, due to some extent to the stormy weather. The program as published in these columns was rendered in full, and as a whole was fairly well presented. Among the features were the piano selections rendered by Miss Haase of Kearney, who for one of her age is certainly an accomplished musician. Her selections were of a high class, yet she executed them with ease, and was warmly applauded. Little Abbie Patterson gave a recitation in such a winning and natural manner that the audience demanded a re-appearance. Abbie is nothing short of a prodigy in her line, and if she lived in a city could command a good round salary for her work. Miss Grace Leonhardt, though suffering from a troublesome cold, rendered her solo very sweetly, and her father Prof. Leonhardt gave evidence of a full, round and cultivated voice in a duo and a solo. Mrs. J. H. Hershey, as usual, so pleased the audience with a solo that she was recalled. The duettes by Mrs. Harrington and Mr. Redmond, and by Mrs. C. A. Dill and Prof. Leonhardt were nicely rendered, and the bass solo by Major Scharmann—covering a range of two octaves—was rendered in a faultless manner. The male Octette gave a selection and responded to an encore. Solos were rendered by Irma Chuton and I. L. Bare, the former giving evidence of being the possessor of a very sweet voice which will further improve as she advances in age. The choruses were somewhat disappointing to the audience, the frigid temperature of the stage being such as to affect the voices.

Injured in a Wreck.

A terrible wreck occurred on the Northwestern early Sunday morning at Malta, Ill., train No. 6, which left here at 8:30 Saturday morning running into a freight. Four persons were killed, twenty or more injured, and two engines, five Pullman cars and eight freight cars demolished.

Among those killed were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Rudio, of Omaha, parents of the Miss Rudio who was recently a guest at the Turpie ranch and the Cody residence.

In the list of injured were Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Jameson of this city, the former having his face cut and the latter her back hurt. Mr. and Mrs. Jameson left here Saturday morning for New York in response to a telegram stating that a relative was seriously sick. Mr. Jameson is an employe of the U. P. blacksmith shop and has been here but a short time.

"Alvin Joslin" Next Friday.

Those who enjoy a hearty laugh should not fail to see the famous rural comedy, "Alvin Joslin," at the opera house next Friday evening. Although the original of all the rural comedies it seems to be just as popular with theatre-goers today as it was when first produced years ago. Written for laughing purposes only, it successfully accomplishes its purposes for the audience is kept in roars of laughter from the beginning to the end of the performance, and there is not a dull moment during the whole evening. The characters are natural and true to life, the dialogue bright and witty and the situations are very laughable. Although the comedy predominates, yet the dramatic element has not been neglected and there are several thrilling climaxes. The action of the play is laid in New York and several famous localities of that city are faithfully reproduced with new and special scenery. Among the principal scenes are the famous Brooklyn bridge by moonlight, the Grand Central Depot, a thieves den in Baxter street, and a Bowery concert hall. Several new and novel specialties will be introduced during the performance.

BETWEEN THE RIVERS.

A happy new year to one and all. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Murray, of Gibbon, who had spent Christmas with their daughter Mrs. H. B. Hungerford, departed for home Monday morning. They were accompanied by Mrs. Jack Hungerford, of the same place.

Mrs. W. E. Park is visiting relatives at Brady Island.

Samuel Harris marketed shelled corn at North Platte Saturday.

Rev. W. H. Danielson the pastor of the M. E. church here returned Monday evening from near Hershey where he had been assisting Rev. Crusen in a protracted meeting. He reports the meeting as quite successful.

C. V. Allison and wife, of Knoxville, Tenn., arrived on the train Tuesday evening for an extended visit with his parents and brothers who live west of town five or six miles.

The entertainment at the M. E. church Christmas Eve was a great success. It was a joint affair of the two churches and too much cannot be said in praise of the young people who had charge of it. The little folks who done the speaking done themselves great credit, while the tree yielded a present of some kind to every boy and girl there. A great many of the older people received presents of different kinds which afforded considerable amusement.

Quite a number of Wallacites attended the dedication exercises of the new Odd Fellows hall at Elsie Christmas evening.

Mrs. Ella Gard and children, of Colorado, a sister of Mrs. D. S. Scofield, arrived Wednesday morning. She will visit with 'friends' and old acquaintances a few days.
